A Lost Calf (A2)

One warm spring morning, Farmer Anna noticed that one of her calves was missing. The little calf, Charlie, was very curious and loved exploring the farm. While the other cows were eating grass in the field, Charlie walked through an open gate and wandered into a small forest near the farm.

When Farmer Anna counted the cows, she realised that Charlie was gone. She asked her children to help look for him. They searched near the pond, behind the barn, and around the vegetable garden, but they could not find him.

After almost an hour, they heard a soft "Moo!" coming from behind some trees. Charlie was standing next to a stream, looking frightened but unharmed.

Farmer Anna gently led Charlie back to the farm. She closed the gate carefully and gave him fresh water and hay. From that day on, Charlie stayed close to the other cows, and Farmer Anna always checked that the gates were closed.
